Dear AMS Families,

We hope your family is doing as well as can be expected in light of these challenging times. We miss seeing and working with your children every day. Like you, we are eager to resume our normal routine - whenever that time comes. Our team has put together information for families to utilize. It can be accessed here.

If you or your child is struggling with the transition to remote learning or if you would like more information about how you might support your child, please reach out to any member of the AMS staff. We welcome your feedback and want to maintain open lines of communication throughout our remote learning period. We are all in this together...#avonstrong #bettertogether.

As your school counselors, we are available by email and phone, happy to assist you with a variety of issues that may arise at this time. Also, students are encouraged to regularly access the school counseling google classroom. Please, please reach out. We would love an update on how our students are doing. They add the sparkle to our days!

Be well. Stay in touch,

Cara Boland and Chris Franco
