From the Principals:

We would like to highlight some of the amazing folks who are working so hard on the front lines and those who are finding ways to do good and make a positive difference during this unprecedented time.

First, we would like to recognize our PGS families who are serving on the front lines. We know there are military personnel currently deployed as well as health care workers who have to be away from their families right now. Thank you for the sacrifice you are making to help keep all of us safe. We see you and salute you!

Thank you to those who are making a difference in our communities by sewing masks, putting hearts in your windows, making signs of thanks and encouragement. It is comforting to see and hear signs of support and love being displayed.

Here is an example of one of our own sharing her talents with those affected by COVID-19. Our Music Teacher Mrs. Meghan Ryan has been singing with some of her musical friends from UConn and UHart.

Their group is called "Songs of Comfort" and was recently featured on Fox 61. Check out their latest version of "Here Comes the Sun" created for patients at Middlesex Hospital. Check out the link below.
